OUR FACTORY AT MONACA, PA.

FOREWORD

THE policy of this company today is exactly that which has been in effect since its inception: to make an honest quality product of PRACTICABILITY, DURABILITY and EXCELLENCE. The growth of our Company has necessitated additions to our factory from time to time, and today we have a most complete and efficient plant.

The general trend of this industry has been to eliminate a multiplicity of designs. Patterns of accepted design and simplicity have been approved, and our manufacturing department is always on the alert to improve our product with the result that the line shown in this catalogue is very complete, practical and of sufficient variety to answer the requirements of any demand.

All the illustrations have been made from actual photographs of the articles as shown, enabling the purchaser to see all details of fixtures selected.

Our constant aim is to give our customers the best product obtainable and also the services that leaves nothing to be desired.

United States SINKS

WHEN the ATLAS sink support is used, there is neither necessity nor justification for sink legs. The ATLAS is different from other sink supports in that its broad, flat back, uses the surface of the wall as a brace, and when properly attached to a wall that is both true and firm, makes it impossible for the sink ever to sag.

An additional advantage of the ATLAS is that while it is superior to other supports, it is also concealed from view. The wall bars are hidden by the back of the sink, and the supports lie flat beneath the sink and drain board.

Today, there is a tendency to recognize that women of different heights—or even of the same height but of different build or habits can work most efficiently, and most comfortably, only when the sink is placed at the proper height for the individual.

The ATLAS meets present day requirements. It can be installed at any height to meet the requirements of the individual.
